CENTURY 21 Canada Supports Member Learning with a New Department

CENTURY 21 Canada is pleased to announce that Kevin Stanley has been appointed to Director of Knowledge and Learning. This comes with the creation of the new Knowledge and Learning Department, which will provide CENTURY 21 Canada System members with the professional skills for that added edge.

Kevin is excited about his new role, and for the direction that CENTURY 21 Canada is taking: "The new Knowledge and Learning Department is providing our System members with relevant business skills that will help them become even more successful."

Kevin has been with CENTURY 21 Canada for 26 years. Prior to this appointment he was the Director of Franchise Services. Kevin began his career with CENTURY 21 as a realtor with CENTURY 21 Westman in Brandon, MB. He was also a Franchise Services Manager and National Trainer for CENTURY 21 Canada

CENTURY 21 Canada is confident that the leadership Kevin has shown throughout his career in training and management will now help guide the Knowledge and Learning Department. "Kevin will continue his online education activities, building an interactive campus for all our System members. I know that you will join me in congratulating Kevin on his position," says Brian Rushton, Senior Vice President, Operations of CENTURY 21 Canada.
